IPS Challenge Test

Shoreline is committed to providing all students with access to challenging, rigorous learning experiences in science. Most Shoreline students take Integrated Physical Science (IPS) in 9th grade. As a vehicle for providing access to a wider array of upper level science courses, the District established means to enable students to challenge IPS by providing evidence of mastery of the state standards covered in the IPS course.

There are two parts to the IPS challenge process. The first is the IPS Challenge Test. This is a multiple-choice and short-answer test of the scientific content knowledge and skills outlined in the Washington State Standards covered in the IPS course. The test does not assess material from Shoreline 7th and 8th grade science courses. For a list of concepts and online resources, please go to the district website. Students must also demonstrate classroom-based evidence of mastery of lab and process skills and responsibility necessary for success in Biology. This is assessed through the student's first semester grade from their 8th grade science class.

To successfully challenge IPS and be able to enroll in Biology, a score of 75% is required to pass the IPS Challenge Test and students must have also earned a grade of B or higher in their science class. It is recommended that students earn a score of 80% or higher on the IPS Challenge Test and a grade of A in their science class in order to enroll in Honors Biology. To be successful in Honors, students must already possess an established skill base which includes: basic algebra, above grade level reading in English, and writing that communicates ideas with a high level of supporting detail and attention to standard English writing conventions. Students must be willing to work at a faster pace and explore topics in greater depth. In addition, there are required summer homework assignments for Honors Science courses.

Einstein Middle School will be offering the IPS Challenge Test to 8th graders during their Honors Science class on Wednesday, June 10th or Thursday June 11th. If you are not currently taking Honors Science 8, please fill out the information on the Opt-in form by May 15, 2015.

Volunteer Opportunities

In May, Einstein needs support. Here's what we already know is needed from our parent/guardian community:

- The teacher appreciation luncheon is on MAY 8, with a BBQ theme- sign up HERE to donate food for the event.
- We have a huge track team- please make the time to volunteer at the home meets on MAY 7, MAY 14- sign up HERE. THANK YOU to the three who have already signed up- we have 14 more openings available.

Check the Lost and Found!

Did you know... there is a Lost and Found in the main office for small items, such as jewelry, glasses, keys, etc.? We currently have 18 pair of glasses, and 24 keys! Could one of these items be yours? We are hoping to reunite these things with their rightful owners before donating them at the end of the school year. Stop by to claim your items!

Principal Clark's Comments

Dear Families,

May and June are busy months in a Middle Schooler's life. The additional hours of daylight and the spring and summer weather and activities often conflict with homework and other school requirements and obligations. We hope that you are able to keep a consistent routine for homework and sleep during this transition.

I want to thank staff, students and parents for their efforts in making our spring open house successful. The student performance and art show were outstanding.

I also want to take a moment to congratulate our PTSA outstanding teachers and parents.

Jeff McDowell and Deanna Baldi were presented with the Golden Apple Award by our PTSA.

Jeff makes middle school classroom management easy. "One day I walked into his class a few minutes before the bell to start that period rang. As we were talking, the students started entering the room. They all sat down, got out their materials and a laptop, and immediately started working- without any direction needed! Wow! This year we would like to honor

Mr. McDowell as one of our teachers of the year! We appreciate his enthusiasm, his leadership with WEB and for providing students who are interested in technology a place to be after school. Congratulations and thank you!

Deanna puts her heart and soul into everything she does: her art, her students, her teaching... She utilizes sound teaching practice, her passion for her subject to make magic happen in her classroom daily. She is generous, thoughtful, and kind. A struggling or lonely student with Deanna has an ally, will always have a solid supporter, a cheerleader, and a mentor. Please take a moment to admire Ms Baldi's work in the SAC. Congratulations and thank you!

Golden Acorn awards were presented to Reiko Shigemoto and Allison Taylor.

Reiko has been a hard working and dedicated volunteer for the last 2 years. She never misses a meeting, asks great questions and her leadership has been very much appreciated. During this year, with new presidents, she has been a rock upon which we can all depend.

She is reliable and very hard working. Her unwavering commitment has made this year go very smoothly. Congratulations and thank you!

Allison is a dedicated volunteer who is always there to support PTSA events, school wide events and teacher needs. She has been in charge of soliciting and managing a countless number of volunteers and has done a great job! Thank you and congratulations!

Stephanie Clark

Smarter Balanced Testing

The following calendar outlines the state testing schedule in May. We did our best to create testing schedules that are least disruptive to our regularly scheduled classes. The daily schedule (6 periods or block schedule) is a little different the weeks of May 4th and May 18th. The days without shading are non-testing days, with a 6 period schedule. The days shaded green are testing days with a 6 period schedule. The days shaded purple are testing days with a 1-3-5 period block schedule, and the days shaded orange are testing days with a 2-4-6 period block schedule. Each testing day lists the type of test the students will be taking, and in which class the test will be taken.

The following state tests will occur one period during students' regularly scheduled day. Students will continue to attend their regularly scheduled classes throughout the day.

- English / Language Arts – Performance Task (ELA – Perf. Task) – 2 Periods of Testing During English Class

PTSA President's Message

Anne Alonzi-Aw and Patty Austin, PTSA Co-Presidents

Hello Families!

It was great to see everyone at the Spring Open House. Thank you to all the volunteers who helped to make it a great evening. It was good to connect with teachers and see the amazing interactive art display that Ms. Baldi and her students put together. In addition, we were so happy to be able to hand out awards to some very wonderful people:

- Outstanding Educator: Deanna Baldi and Jeff McDowell
- Golden Acorn (for Volunteering): Reiko Shigemoto and Allison Taylor
- Principal Clark also gave out a special Principal's Award to Mary Lynn Antush (not pictured below) and Diana Nielsen, for all their hard work on this very newsletter every month!

Every single volunteer and teacher at Einstein is appreciated, but it was great to have the chance to say a very special Thank You to these people who care so much about our kids.

Looking forward to some spring weather and the last couple of months of school!

advocacy news

Suzanne Gugger and Carrie Campbell PTA Legislative Directors

What's happening with the legislature and education? The debate continues in the legislature over whether or not to fund education. There are many facets to the debate. The first question is whether or not they will fund based on the McCleary Decision. The second is if they will uphold the voter passed initiative to lower class sizes. And finally, if we fund all of that, what will happen to higher education?

Currently there are 3 competing proposals in the legislature to relieve the 295 school districts of their levy heavy school funding and fund education and higher teacher compensation through the state. The legislature is set to finish on April 26th, which doesn't leave much time to sort out these 3 proposals and come up with a solution to the Supreme Court's contempt decision. I guess we'll find out soon.

See the bills:

- Levies for schools, reducing by prior school year allocations for K-12 salary enhancements: SB 6103
- Levies for schools, reducing reliance on local levies: SB 6104
- Levies for schools, reducing while increasing property tax to fund education: SB 5334

Lowering class sizes was a voter past initiative on top of the McCleary decision. The burden of the lower class sizes is a hefty price tag that will require more physical classrooms and a larger teaching staff for all school districts throughout the state (295 districts). As far as we can tell the legislature isn't even trying to tackle this budget issue; they first have to deal with the lower threshold of the McCleary Decision.

Sen. Michael Baumgartner, R-Spokane, proposed a budget that included a 34% increase in the UW Budget which would be targeted largely at lowering tuition. This proposal is to put the public back in our local public, state education, making it more financially accessible. See Danny Westneat's article in the Seattle Times.

We will find out soon if the Legislature passes any of it and makes progress in the public education here in WA state. Keep an eye out.

LINES FROM THE LIBRARY

Anne Dame, Librarian

April in the library has been both fun and busy. We had a successful book fair, went on a field trip, completed SRI testing, started Smarter Balance testing, plus did book talks for the final book club project of the year. Whew! Spring break will be a welcome time of rejuvenation and preparation for the last eight weeks of school. I can't believe how quickly this year has gone by!

The book fair was very successful. Thank you so much to all of our families for the support. Many of you donated books to specific teachers from their wish lists. In addition we were also able to purchase many new books for the library. See the picture to see all the books! Thanks again for your support. Special thanks to Doreen Hocraffer, Frank Kleyn, and Rhonda McRae for their help with the cash registers during the open house.

Thanks to a grant from the PTSA, I was able to team up with the Read 180 teachers and the Shoreline and Richmond Beach teen librarians to create a fabulous field trip experience for 75 of our Read 180 students. We went to the Shoreline Public library and heard a fabulous spoken word poet: Roseanne McAleese. Rose was diagnosed with a form of dyslexia when she was in 7th grade and has become a successful writer and poet in Los Angeles. We were very fortunate to be able to hear her. A lot of students really connected with her and her message. Aarene and Rick, the teen librarians, were very generous and each student was able to select a free book to take home with them. Afterwards we celebrated with chips, cookies, and juice in the Einstein library. What a great trip and a special memory and experience for these students.

I hope you all had a fabulous spring break filled with some good books, rest, and relaxation. If you are need of a new book to read, here are some of the new titles available in the library:

The Family Romanov*, by Candace Fleming: A look at the sad end to the Romanov dynasty in Russia, the beginning of WWI, and the Bolshevik Revolution.

Standing Tall: Lessons in turning adversity into victory*, by C. Vivian Stringer: the memoir of an African-American woman who grew up as a coal-miner's daughter and became the head coach of the Rutgers University basketball team.

Septimus Heap: The Magyk Papers*, by Angie Sage: a bonus book for the Septimus Heap fans; full of maps, flyers, letters, journal entries and other previously unpublished material.

Upcoming Concert Dates

Did You Know?

The President of Cornell University, David J. Shorten, has endorsed the growing recognition of the importance of arts and music in the making of young scientists. In tune with The Nobel Prizewinner Thomas Sudhof's declaration [January 19, 2014] that 'training in the arts prepares a growing child just as well for a scientific or technical career as [does] training in STEM subjects, if not better', Shorten- head of a university with campuses in Ithaca and Qatar- writes the following in Scientific American:

"... to be truly effective . . . what we really need is a much broader humanistic education for scientists (and nonscientists), beginning in K-12 education and continuing through the undergraduate/graduate and professional years. It is through the study of art, music, literature and other humanities and social sciences that we gain a greater understanding of the human condition than biological or physical science alone can provide." (January 26, 2014, Slipped Disc, Norman Lebrecht's blog)

All new students from another state: provider verification of varicella disease required.
